

Theorising the new partnership landscape

March 12th 2013

Venue: Friends'
Meeting House,
Euston Road, London

Room: Small Meeting House

Keynote Speaker:
Professor Anne
Edwards, Department
of Education,
University of Oxford

Fee: £150

How to book

Please reserve your place by completing the registration form which can be found at:

www.cumbria.ac.uk/diaryofevents

For queries about the workshop content:

alison.jackson@cumbria.ac.uk

Telephone contact: 01524
385459 (internal 5759)

All other queries please contact TEAN admin at:

tean@cumbria.ac.uk

Telephone contact: 01524
385441 (internal 5741)

This workshop is jointly presented by TEAN, the Teacher Education Advancement Network and APTE, the Association for Partnership in Education

Theorising the new partnership landscape

What is the seminar about?

'A though provoking day which enabled me to begin to make more sense of what we need to do in the current context and to identify positive and constructive strategies for developing and strengthening partnerships.'
Delegate 2012 APTE/TEAN Partnership Event

After last year's successful collaboration, TEAN, the Teacher Education Advancement Network, and APTE, the Association for Partnership in Education are pleased to present this opportunity for colleagues to come together to advance the conceptualisation of partnership in teacher education. How are new partnerships being co-constructed? How are systems being effectively brought together? What challenges are arising from new partnerships? How are these challenges to be met? This event brings an opportunity to deepen understanding of what partnership actually means, to reflect on what has been achieved and to move forward to what needs to be done next.

Who is it for?

The seminar is for all those involved in initial teacher education, in all phases (early years, primary and secondary); we welcome colleagues interested in effective partnership working in universities or schools from all areas of the UK and beyond.

Keynote Speaker

We are delighted to welcome Professor Anne Edwards to present our keynote address. She will challenge delegates by discussing how she conceptualises the changing engagement between schools and universities. Anne is Professor of Educational Studies and Director of the Department of Education at the University of Oxford. She also co-convenes the Oxford Centre for Sociocultural and Activity Theory Research (OSAT). Her research centres on learning across the welfare professions and her work is located in cultural historical theory. Her recent publications centre on what she terms 'the relational turn' in expertise and focus on the exercise of relational agency in systems of distributed expertise such as partnership arrangements and children's services.

In the afternoon session, case studies will be presented by:

Rosa Archer, Siân Morgan and Dr Sue Pope, University of Manchester
Dr d'Reen Struthers, University of Roehampton and Simon Asquith, University of Birmingham
James Burch and Dr Alison Jackson, University of Cumbria

All delegates will be able to attend each case study presentation.